

Santa Fe Community College

“Aspect made my search for an American College simple, and easy. Everyone was very helpful.”

Student from Holland

Location

Gainesville is a student city, much like Ann Arbor, Michigan or Austin, Texas. Concerts, festivals, nightlife, outdoor recreation and Top 10 intercollegiate football entertain Santa Fe and University of Florida students. Crescent Beach, an hour and a half away, is nicknamed “Gainesville Beach.” Arts, athletics and activities are an exciting part of campus life at Santa Fe Community College.

The college offers theatrical productions, a seasonal performing arts series, an art gallery, a teaching zoo and the annual SFCC Spring Arts Festival, which attracts 110,000 people to Gainesville.

An active student Government Association organizes events and activities, and is a respected voice for students in campus matters.

Climate

The college is located in a warm setting that blends into the unique scenery of North Florida. Santa Fe has won awards for landscaping that preserves the trees, ponds and natural features of the campus. Santa Fe also has the Andrews Center in Starke and Blount Center in downtown Gainesville. The two centers are located in restored historical buildings. The Gainesville lifestyle means plenty of activities to choose from. It also means that our town welcomes students with different interests and backgrounds.
